News Release

West Palm Beach, FL – County Commissioner Steven L. Abrams announced today that the Board of County Commissioners approved a resolution to expedite the building approval process for countywide projects.

“I’ve always said that the best economic development program we could have is a building permit,” Abrams told the Board prior to passage. “This initiative makes good economic sense especially in today’s challenging economic climate,” said Abrams.

Businesses that qualify will receive expedited and specially coordinated permitting in the approval process. A similar initiative was established by many of the county’s municipalities including Delray Beach, Boynton Beach and Boca Raton.
