Thanks to local Palm Beach artist Susan P. Cochran, five very large ant sculptures will be placed on the property of Palm Beach International Airport as part of Palm Beach County's Art in Public Places program. The painted-bronze ant sculptures range in height from three to seven feet and up to 25 feet in length. The largest, the queen, weighs in at a hefty 7,500 pounds. On loan to Palm Beach County for one year, the sculpture is titled "Ant Colony."

Who: Palm Beach County Art in Public Places and PBI

What: "Ant Colony" Sculpture installation
Meet and Greet Artist Susan P. Cochran, phone 561-371-7902

Where: Open grassy area east of PBI's Park & Ride lot

When: Mon., Sept. 18, 2006, 3-5 p.m. Queen Ant assembled / installed
Tues., Sept. 19, 2006, 11 a.m. – 3 p.m. Four "small" ants installed

Why: To offer an artistic and compelling experience for residents & visitors. Loaned artworks enable the County to expand its presentation of public art in the absence of capital funds beyond existing bond allocations.
