2008 Presidential Campaign Neighborhood Team Leader and Activist

July 2008 to Nov 2009

At the time of the first campaign there was no organizational structure provided by the campaign. It was my desire to see Barack Obama be successful and win, particularly in Florida. As a resident of Palm Beach County I have watched the incredible electoral dysfunction for the last 20 years. Having previously not been able to get involved I took it upon myself to engage with the campaign and learn what is needed to be successful on a grassroots level. I have spent the majority of my professional career working with communities around the country to build quality housing and social service related programs for low-income families. This process entailed a great deal of grass roots organizing to gain community support. The downturn in the real estate market and the implosion of the banking industry gave me an opportunity to use my professional skills and apply them to the campaign.

I started a campaign office out of my home and ultimately raised the funds needed to move to an office in a highly visible location. I raised money to build the infrastructure and began signing up volunteers. A campaign staff person was assigned later to our region. The campaign provided goals and objectives and built the infrastructure to support the local office. I was able to locate an office, negotiate a lease, establish utilities, procure furniture and phones and other office supplies and equipment to build phone banks, voter registration drives, data entry teams, visibility rallies and engage volunteers. On Election Day I was posted at a precinct, by the campaign, which was known to have voter suppression problems and issues. I developed a "Rides to Polls" program and coordinated a team of drivers for GOTV.
